THE·AUTOGRAPH·COLLECTION·OF HOWES NORRIS, JR.

Biology will become a real science when the methods of physics and chemistry are made applicable in biological experimentation.

Till then we may expect to continue to work in an atmosphere of anthropomphic mysticism which we form in the theory of Natural Selection, or in the hage of genes and factors which are built into chromosomes which hide our ignorance of what really goes on in the living substance when it transmits hereditary qualities

Charles A. Kofoid

DSI

Nov. 15, 1924.